President's Message

Hello Everyone,

As we roll along, I hope everyone is having a great Summer, and as we approach the "dog days of summer", may you all stay cool. My first thought when we reach these milestones is that ski season is that much closer. Like many of you, I really look forward to the next ski season - and also look forward to the annual ski trip to parts beyond the Sierras - next season to Crested Butte, Colorado!

Karen Wehrman
President

Summer does hold its pleasures, though, and one of them is getting together with friends at the summer Bar-B-Que meetings. Last month Ron and Anne White hosted the Club at their communal area, and it was a great meeting. It was well-attended, and there was lots of lively conversation, great food and an informative meeting. Thanks so much to Ron and Anne for their generous hospitality!

The Bar-B-Que meeting in August will be held at my house in Castro Valley, and I really hope I'll be seeing you here. Check the calendar in this Skizette issue for further information.

Fred and Marsha Rubis have postponed the Vin et Cuisine event, so please watch for more information about that too. This is always a fun event, and you won't be sorry if you come and enjoy gourmet food and great wines. Thank you, too, to Fred and Marsha for hosting this wonderful event!

There will be a lot going on this year, so please start thinking about how you want to contribute and add to the fun in your own way.

I will end this message with a note of great sadness at the passing of a long-time, active, and beloved member of Castro Valley Ski Club. Astra Gabriel passed away earlier this week, after a long battle with cancer, and we are all feeling the loss already. Astra was a special person, with a quick smile, a sweet nature, and a great sense of humor - she will be greatly missed by everyone who was lucky enough to know her. Our thoughts and prayers are with Steve James and her family at this difficult time. Notice of a celebration of her life will be forthcoming when the date has been set.

With this news, we are all reminded of how precious life is, and I, for one, am grateful for the good times, great friends and fellowship that Castro Valley has brought to my life - I hope you feel the same way and that I will see you soon at one of the get-togethers coming up.

Stay safe and cool,

Karen

A Word from our VP

Well, Club companions, did you attend the July barbeque-meeting at the "White house"? We had a great time and the weather was perfect, though my suggestion that we throw the Club President into the pool went nowhere. But we will get another chance--the August barbeque-meeting will be at her house. I'm confident you're finding out all about that party in the column just to the left of this one. Come and enjoy the fun.

Ron White
Vice President

No added BAC news to what's already reported; but there is an updated flier for the Oakland A's game and tailgate event, likely attached to this Skizette. About half of the 150 available tickets are already sold for this September game, so you better decide soon if you would like to attend.

As you heard from our President if you attended the July barbeque, we have indicated to the others in the BAC 2013 Convention planning group that CVSC will volunteer to stuff the Swag Bags given out at the Far-West Convention with the available goodies. Other clubs will beg for the swag and provide it in cartons, and others will design the logos for and acquire the bags. A few CVSC volunteers (probably also attendees) are planned to crash at some Truckee pads the Wednesday before the big Thursday arrival in Reno, get together at one of them, eat pizza and drink beer, and stuff the bags before the beer runs out.

Possibly harder to volunteer for is the "Eye-opener Breakfast" from 7-8am the convention morning after the big party, fixing the Bloody Mary's and the like. The Silva twins say they will just stay up and party all night to perform for this. Ahhh, to be young again.

Your dedicated VP,
Ron

Our South American Adventure

Lake Titicaca

Machu Picchu

Amazon River Boat Cruise

What is there to say about what we saw, learned, experienced.....????? Mere words can hardly convey, but we'll try our best.

Aside from the actual experience, the trip in and of itself was mind boggling..... it was a many faceted excursion. We had people going on only the Amazon River, people going on the Amazon, as well as Lake Titicaca, those going on the Amazon and Machu Picchu, AND, last but not least, those doing the whole 9 yards ... the Amazon, Lake Titicaca and Machu Picchu.

All of us who experienced the Amazon River (and of course the rain forest), came away with many thoughts, ideas, feelings/emotions. I can only say for myself (your kindly editor) that I was totally and completely in awe of what we experienced. Coming from the U.S., the most advanced continent on the globe, visiting a place like the Amazon, a most primitive people, really made me pause for thought.

We were given the most wonderful experience of meeting some of the natives in the rain forest, and sharing lunch with them. Learning their life style, culture, and beliefs put American life style in a quite different perspective.

First stop on our trek, the city of Lima, looking out on the Pacific Ocean, it is a very modern city.

On our way to Machu Picchu, we stopped in the city of Cuzco, a very old city, one of many cathedrals, and very ruggedly constructed city streets.

A visit to Machu Picchu

3-hr train ride to the ancient ruins

Ruins of the ancient Inca civilization.

LAKE TITICACA EXTENSION

June 3-6, 2012

In between the 2 Amazon Trips we had 31 members go with us to Lake Titicaca which is located around 12000 feet above sea level. Lake Titicaca is a lake in the Andes on the border of Peru and Bolivia. By volume of water, it is also the largest lake in South America.

The most famous sites on the lake are the unique floating islands of the Uros people, made of Totora reeds. The Uros began their unusual floating existence centuries ago in an effort to isolate themselves from the Colla and Inca tribes. Today about 300 families live on the islands, however their numbers are slowly declining. The Totora reeds that grow in the shallows of the lake are used for making everything from the islands themselves to the model boats that the islanders sell. The islands are made up of layers upon layers of reeds; as the layers closest to the water start to rot, they are replaced with fresh reeds on top. The reeds are also used to build their boats, which if constructed well will last up to 6 months.

From Lake Titicaca, 15 of us went by train from Puno to Cusco. It is one of the top 10 train rides in the world and it lived up to it's reputation. The trip was 10 hours and included lunch, tea, pisco sours, a fashion show and live entertainment. I don't think any of us slept and the time flew by. I highly recommend it if you ever get the chance.

Our time on the Amazon.....

Our fabulous cruise ship, "Jungle Discovery"

The Amazon Region contains the world's largest tropical rainforest, the world's longest river, and possibly the greatest diversity of wild-life to be found anywhere.

On the Amazon, pulling to shore, the natives were as curious about us as we were them.....

What the natives caught for supper (catfish).

Thatched huts (natives' homes) along the shore.

Getting ready to go to the marketplace to sell their wares.

.....and in the rain forest

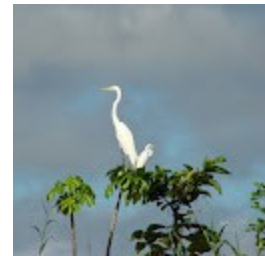

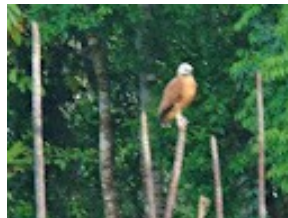

Creepy, crawly critters!!!!
(Pink toed tarantula)

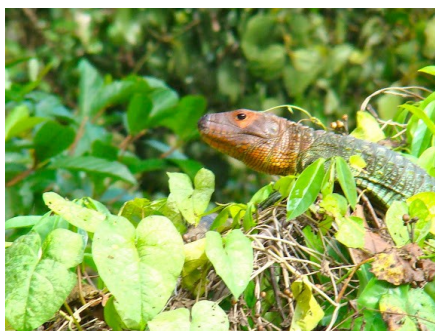

Making friends!!!!
(with baby anachonda)

Pirahna..... GOTCHA!!!!

Hundreds of species of birds.....

An iguana posed for photo op!!

Poison dart frog

the ever elusive sloth!

The natives were SO friendly!!!!

CVSC special bbq meeting in Livermore

Happy hour/unbeatable camaraderie...

Great food.....

..... and then — DOWN TO BUSINESS!!!!!!

Mountain Lion Safety Tips

Mountain Lions are occasionally sighted in the Bay Area hills. They are very shy and elusive animals. Chances are you will never get to see one of these majestic creatures in the wild, but if you do, the California Department of Fish and Game recommends that you take the following actions, which are based on behavior analysis of attacks by mountain lions, tigers and leopards:

DO NOT HIKE ALONE. Make plenty of noise to reduce your chances of surprising a lion. Go in groups, with adults supervising children. A sturdy walking stick is a good idea: you can use it to ward off a lion.

KEEP CHILDREN CLOSE TO YOU. Observations of captured lions reveal that the animals seem especially drawn to children. Keep children within your sight at all times.

STOP! Do not run from a lion; back away from it slowly, but only if you can do so safely. Running may stimulate a lion's instinct to chase and attack. Face the lion and stand upright. Make eye contact. If you have small children with you, pick them up so they won't panic and run. Although it may seem awkward, pick them up without bending over or turning away from the lion.

DO NOT BEND OR CROUCH OVER; DO ALL YOU CAN TO APPEAR LARGER. A person squatting or bending over looks a lot like a four-legged prey animal. Raise your arms. Open your jacket, if you're wearing one. Throw stones, branches, or whatever you can grab without crouching down or turning your back. Wave your arms slowly and speak firmly in a large voice.

DO NOT APPROACH A LION, especially one that is feeding or with kittens. Most mountain lions will try to avoid confrontation. Give them a way to escape.

FIGHT BACK IF ATTACKED. Try to stay on your feet if a lion attacks you. Lions have been driven off by prey that fights back. Some hikers have fought back successfully with sticks, caps, jackets, garden tools, and their bare hands. Since lions usually try to bite the head or neck, try to remain standing and face the attacking animal.

Report all mountain lions sites to you local police.

For more information about mountain lions, please contact the Department of Fish and Game, 1416 Ninth Street, Sacramento, CA 95814
